SURRENDER OF WILLIAMS.

Slayer of Henry Davis-Sheriff Anderson and Deputies Promptly on Hand.

It will be remembered that the APPEAL of Friday gave an account of the killing of a negro named Henry Davis, and the wounding of another Wash Essen in the country of another Wash Essen in the country of the second state of the country of the coun of another, Wash Eason, in the sixth district, by Mack Williams, last Thursday. In Sunday's APPEAL it was stated that a rumor prevailed to the effect that Williams was in a house near Bartlett and refused to surrender, but was besieged by the sheriff and posse. It seems that this was erroneous, and arose from the fact that the object of the movement Sheriff Anderson and posse was not made mown to our informant. It seems that the negroes in the sixth civil district became exted over the tragedy and at once determined lynch Williams. They summoned their riends, beat drums, and not only gave eviance that they intended to execute their designs, but made no concealment of their efforts. Williams, the murderer, surrendered to Deputy-Sheriff M'Gowan, and was allowed to remain at his house to await a preliminary trial Monday. He was anxious to get a trial at once, and said he was teared the negroes would kill him. When's was definitely learned that the negroes were preparing to execute their designs upon Williams, Deputy-Sheriff M'Gowan came to this city and informed Sheriff Anderson, who with several deputies and a lot of guns proceeded to Bartlett, in order to prevent or suppress any unlawful proceedings on the part of he negroes. The report that Williams re fused to sufrender and was besieged in the house proves to be untrue. He had sought refuge in M'Gowan's house, and had delivered himself to the officers of the law. Williams is now in jail here to await trial. He is a son of Charles Williams, who resides at Fisherville. We are informed that Davis and his friend had come to murder Williams, but the latter discovered their object and fired, killing the former and seriously wounding the latter. It is further said that Davis had raised his gun to fire, but that Williams was too quick for him. It is due the accused that these facts are published, although it is not done at his request.

The marriage ceremony was performed without the consent of the young lady's parents, who little suspected James D. Porter and Adjutant-General Charles D. Porter left last evening to attend the meeting of governors to be held in Philadelphia this week. Colonel Charles N. Gibbs, secretary of state will act for the governor, was only exceeded by their indignation. Of was only exceeded by their indignation. Of course the newly wedded pair left here, pro-ceeding to Holly Springs, Mississippi, to visit the mother of Mr. Dickens. The groom has lived in Memphis for several dition is anything but encouraging. Yester-day morning he was resting well, having had a good night's rest, and he was thought to be somewhat better. The illness of General Forcest is a power of the little word to be somewhat better. Forrest is a source of no little regret to his knew all about the wedding, and, instead of knew all about the wedding, and, instead of informing the family, had acted as witness to the ceremony, he determined to resent what he considered a breach of friendship. Consequently, when Chandler visited Mr. Cogswell's house, No. 129 Madison street, Sunday, young Cogswell attacked him and might have inflicted some injury had his parents not interfered. From present indications it is probterfered. From present indications it is probable that the Cogswell family will not soon become reconciled to their daughter and new

FEARFUL MORTALITY

Among the Negroes-"Syphilis and Whisky," Says a Noted Physician, Will Eventually Destroy the Whole Negro Race."

EDITORS APPEAL.—The population of Memphis is variously estimated at from forty to sixty thousand souls. The proportion of negroes is estimated at from one-sixth to onefourth of the whole population. One-fourth is accepted as the proper estimate for the purposes of this communication, and it is accepted because it is the highest estimate. During the year 1876 our mortuary reports, kept accurately and carefully, show that there were six hundred and fifty-two deaths among the white population and six hundred and one among the negroes—that is to say, there were nearly four times as many negroes died during the year as white people, considering the proportion of the numbers of the two races. From January to July the deaths were two hundred and seventy whites to two hundred and seventy-two negroes—more than four to one. In the months of July and August, the deaths have been one hundred and twenty-one whites to one hundred and forty-eight negroes. More than five to one, when we consider the proportion of population. This is a rough and hasty calculation and it is unportion. These facts are thrown out and commended to thoughtful men of the south and honest philanthropists of the north. Is the negro going the way of the Indian? Does the race decrease, and if The writer believes the negro is a good "institution" for the south. God is his wisdom planted the race here for a wise purpose. It behooves the intelligence of the country to realize the fact and use their best efforts to prevent the race from "wearing away." The best physicians of the country tell us that neglect of their offspring, abandonment of the sick, and vicious habits, are doing the work of destruction for the unfor-tunate negro—a work which will soon "civil-ize him from off the face of the earth." A good physician, who has no superior in his profession, said to me: "Below the latitude of Memphis syphilis and whisky will eventu-ally destroy the whole negro race." If these good men, who have the best opportunities for observation, are correct, here is a wide field in which the honest philanthrepist of the north can do noble work. We of the south are destitute.. Our fortunes, which were once used so livishly in charity, are gone. We are gone. We are powerless for good in a work which will require energy and means. "built aip" while we were being broken down, will join us, we will make a strong effort to aid him to join in the progress of the age. "PERFIDIOUS ALBION"

Attacks Mr. "Fiat Justitia," and Hits him Several Severe Digs in the Ribs-" Facts are Stubborn Things."

EDITORS APPEAL—In your reply to your correspondent, "Flat Justitia," you say: "The English people are all right; they are humane, charitable, kind and benevolent." English history proves them to be more cruel than humane. How kind and benevolent hey are to their own workingmen; to their own Irish and Indian subjects, we all know. But, please tell us wherever did the English people practice charity, unless it paid them to do it. After nearly half a million of their Indian subjects had died of starvation the English parliament appropriated five million pounds sterling, provided that the money be paid back into the treasury. Had they appropriated twenty, or even ten millions at the right time, unconditionally, the half a million of human beings could have been saved from so horrible a death. It was not the red-tape system, as you charitably sup-posed, but because it did not pay them to be charitable. The English are a cool, moneymaking and money-hoarding people, and their virtuous, but avaricious, queen sets them a good example in accumulating money. They shed tears over Uncle Tom's Cabin, while their own working classes, according to the beasts of the field. Your correspondent thinks the American people prejudiced against England. If he had read the papers of France and Germany in regard to England's steal of the Transvaal republic and the famine in India, he would think the expressions of the American press very mild compared to those of Europe, and, perhaps, be convinced that not prejudice but the condemnation of the whole civilized world is hurled at England's latest outrage and cruelty. I think you are mistaken when you say, "Honest Englishmen are ashamed of it." No Englishman is honest enough to admit or be ashamed of any disgraceful act that England may commit. Mr. Fawcett, who said in Parliament that "the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse and the said in Parliament that the English reverse an government cannot be held responsible for the visitations of Providence," and your cor-respondent "Fiat Justitia," who says "the British parliament cannot resolve itself into a board of relief for the suffering Indians," are good representatives of the English character, and of PERFIDIOUS ALBION. KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.

Grand Triennial Conclave at Cleveland-Preparations for it on an Imposing Scale Complete-Reception of the Brethren.

An Immense Aumber of Visitors to Arrive and Awaiting-Programme-The Competitive Drill - Balls, Excursions and Social Gatherings.

CLEVELAND, O., August 27.—Preparations are nearly complete for the grand triennial conclave of the Knights Templar. The hotels, principal buildings and streets are profusely decorated with evergreens and flags. The details of the grand procession on Tuesday are complete. The city is beginning to fill with strangers. To day three commanderies, two from Cincinnati and one from Dayton, ar rived, and are at their quarters in the Baker block, Superior street. To morrow morning and during the day special trains of Pullman cars from the east, west and south, and also several large steamers chartered by the different commanderies on the lakes, will arrive. The indications are now that the attendance will be much larger than at any previous conclave. It is estimated that ten thousand Sir Knights will be in line on Tuesday, exclusive of the music, of which seventeen bands are on the programme. About one hundred and fifty commanderies have been assigne positions. The accommodations for the Sir Knights and visitors at the hotels and private residences have been found ample, and the committee in charge wish it understood that all who come can be taken care of.

The city is rapidly filling up with Knights Templar and their friends. Most of the commanderies which have arrived up to this time are from Ohio. To-night the eastern, western and southern state commanderies will ar-rive. There are about one hundred and fifty car-loads on their way to this city. The weather is very fine; the city is elegantly decorated, and the streets are already crowded with people During all day and this evening the Oriental commandery of Cleveland, the Hansel man of Cincinnati and the Reed of Day ton have been busy acting as escort to the many commanderies arriving here by lake and rail. The streets are full of citizens and strangers, and the Sir Knights, many in regalia on foot and many in carriages viewing the city, make the city one of gayety and beauty. Bands of music are constantly parading the principal streets, and a large num-ber of commanderies are on Water, Bank and Superior streets. Among the many bands of music present are the Warsaw, Indiana; Great Western, of Sandusky; Northwestern, of Meadville; United States army band, of Columbus; Currier's celebrated Cincinnati band; Nevens and Kretlow, of Chicago; Duquense band, Pittsburg. TRIGG'S INJUNCTION.

It Cannot, According to the Revised Statutes of the United States, Stay Proceedings in a State Court, Save in Bankruptcy Cases.

EDITORS APPEAL-In the interest of tax payers who, like Messrs. Brooks, Neely & Co.. have one paid the Nicolson payement tax, and are now resisting its collection from them a courts, and for the information of certain of our city officials, I ask you to publish the folcheck the diminution of the negro race, and aid him to join in the progress of the age. "Section 720. The writ of injunction shall not be granted by any court of the United States to stay proceedings in any court of a State, except in cases where such injunction may be authorized by any law relating to proceedings in bankruptcy."

I avail myself of this opportunity to repeat that all this annoyance and harrassment of good citizens, and injustice to them, might easily have been avoided in the first place by the exercise of a little common sense and common honesty, by levying a tax sufficient to take up the outstanding pavement scrip and at the same time raise in money a sum sufficient to pay the Brown judgment. Also to say that I am not engaged in the "task of hunting down derelict tax-payers" so much as warring against bad government and for its overthrow, and the restoration of good government in its place. On the contrary, I advise the one-fourth prompt tax-payers to follow the example set them by some of our faithful city officials, and thus secure that uniformity and equality of taxation guaranteed us by the constitution. Among the de-linquencies of those of our incompetent offi-cials, non-payment of their own taxes is a small thing compared to others which the "dear people" shall know in good time. In the next municipal election I want the people to settle the question in this city, whether their officials are their servants only or their their officials are their servants only or their masters. At present there is evidently a difference of opinion on this point in some quarters. It seems now that no citizen can make even a respectful suggestion or ask a question of some of our officials without greatly offending them and being haughtily old that they "understand" what they are about. A Healthful Beverage. In the old times the great quest of explorers was an elixir of life, which they were confident they should find in some hitherto undiscovered spring. With the passing away of this superstition a new cry has gone up for a pure drinking-water which should combine the best tonic qualities with an agreeable taste, fitting it for table use; and the indications are that the desired article has been been found in the water of the Apollianis. been found in the water of the Apollinaris spring, in the valley of the Ahr, in Germany. Eminent chemists in Europe and America, including Mr. J. A. Wanklyn, the noted English analyist, and Dr. (Igden Doremus, of this city, have pronounced it entirely impregnated with its own natural gas, and free from organic impurities. "Who are you?" then asked Lucinda.

Many who are Suffering From the effects of the warm weather, and are debilitated, are advised by physicians t take moderate amounts of whisky twe three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice frequently increase the number of "drinks," and in tim become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intexicating liquors, and which is intended; especially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether a home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's sea-weed tonic, containing the juices of many medicinal herbs. This preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the life supporting properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it, and well known to medical men, have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness, over-exertion, or from any cause whatever, a wineglassful of sea-weed tonic, taken after meals, will strengthen the stomach, and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's seasonable remedies -sea-weed tome and mandrake pills-are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by a change of water and diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all druggists.
